

Since the inception of the No Call Rule, I have only received 1 or 2 calls per month as compared to about 65 calls per month before. The lack of telemarketers calling me at dinner time and during the evening when I don't want to be bothered, has been wonderful. The FCC should just leave Indiana's No Call Rule the way it is--UNCHANGED! I value my right to privacy. If anything the FCC should adopt the same policy. No one has a right to call me, uninvited, and bother me with sales gimmicks. There are a lot of other ways to sell things, other than on the telephone. Thank You
